Architectural Designers New Zealand CEO, Astrid Andersen, said that it is fantastic to have so many deserving winners from the Canterbury/Westland region, and that it is particularly exciting to have a few new faces to the winner's circle, like up and coming designer Mitchell Coll.

"Canterbury is a fascinating region for designers to have the pleasure of working in. It is exciting, innovative, emerging, transitional and quite complex. To see young designers thriving in this region proves what a fantastic training ground Canterbury is for those looking to make their mark in this competitive industry. For this reason, we are delighted to be holding our annual conference in Christchurch, including the National awards ceremony, which will be held at the extraordinary and aptly nicknamed 'Cardboard Cathedral'."

The winners of regional awards, which are currently being awarded across the country, are now eligible for national titles including the Supreme Architectural Design Award. The national awards will be announced on 30 October 2015.

Judges' comments: Very clever twist on a well understood architectural type. The material selection has provided depth to the spatial composition.
