Daryl and Tara Hewitt have owned and operated D J Hewitt Builders in Christchurch for 20 years. The company builds architecturally-designed new homes and rebuilds, particularly in the hill suburbs.

‘LIFTING THE BAR’

with technique & technology

The company has won multiple awards with the most recent being the ADNZ (Architectural Designers New Zealand) Interior Design Award for the company's Redcliffs show home. The house, Daryl and Tara Hewitt's own home, was designed by Darren O'Neil of O'Neil Architecture with interiors by Tara, Darren and Lume Design.

The Hewitt Home was also finalists in the 2015 ACENZ (Association of Consulting Engineers) Innovate Awards for earthquake future-proofing. Engineering by Kirk Roberts, the house was built using a ground-breaking technique whereby the building is constructed of structural steel and Kbraces and is isolated from the retaining walls as well as being suspended off the ground to future-proof it against land movement.

It's this commitment to detail, techniques and technology that D J Hewitt offers to its clients. Daryl Hewitt takes pride in being personally involved with every home from the very beginning until his clients are ready to move into their new home.

"We have a saying - 'Start with Us'. By that we mean seeking our advice as builders even before you have chosen a site; certainly before any plans are drawn. We offer a full service to manage all plans, interiors, lighting plans, engineering, council consents, budgets and pricing, ready to start your build on time."

Daryl Hewitt admits to being both extremely particular and passionate about what his team does. For him project managing the complete process of a build makes for a fantastic result and enjoyment for the clients is of paramount importance.

"Start with us, and finish with a 10 Year Master Build Guarantee."
